FIREARMS REGISTRY

Starting Pistol Permit

P 634

This FACT sheet provides information on the requirements for a person to obtain a permit for a starting pistol - clause 64 of the Firearms Regulation 2006.

What is the definition of a starting pistol?

Clause 64 of the Firearms Regulation 2006 (the Regulation) defines a starting pistol as a firearm that uses blank cartridges only. Regardless of the design features or appearance of the starting pistol, if the pistol uses blank cartridges only, then it is defined as a starting pistol and possession and use of the starting pistol is authorised by a firearms permit issued under clause 64 of the Regulation.

If the starting pistol is a 'cap gun' type of starting pistol, AND the starting pistol DOES NOT resemble a firearm, no authorisation to possess and use the article is required.

However, if the 'cap gun' type starting pistol DOES resemble a firearm (an imitation), then it falls within the provisions of section 4D of the Firearms Act 1996 and requires a permit to possess and use the item.

Starting Pistols - Use blank fire ammunition and require a Starting Pistol Permit

Cap Gun Resembles Firearm - Uses Caps, but resembles a firearm and requires a Firearms Permit

Cap Gun - Uses caps only, does not resemble a firearm. No permit required.

If you need clarification, send a photo to the Firearms Registry Permits Unit - permits@police.nsw.gov.au.

What does a Starting Pistol Permit authorise?

This permit authorises the possession and use of a starting pistol for sporting or other approved events. The starting pistol is authorised to be used only by persons authorised by the permit.

Who can apply for this type of permit?

This permit can be issued to an individual, a business, a club or other organisation.

Does a starting pistol require registration?

Yes. A starting pistol is a firearm and therefore requires registration.

What is the term of the permit?

The permit will be issued for a maximum term of 5 years.

How much will my permit cost?

The prescribed fee for this permit is $75.

Individual Permit - payment is made at the RTA when your photo permit is produced.

Business Permit - payment must accompany the application.

Do I need to do anything prior to lodging my application?

Yes. If you have never held a Category H firearms licence or permit in NSW, you will need to complete an approved firearms safety training course.

For training providers contact:

Tony Garland - Phone: 02 9486 3221,

Sporting Shooters Association of Australia (SSAA) - Phone: 1300 746 683,

The Firearms Safety Training Council - Phone: 02 9486 3077,

Your nearest pistol club or the Firearms Registry.

Include your pistol safety training course completion certificate with your permit application.

What about safe storage?

You must comply with the safe keeping requirements of section 41 of the Firearms Act 1996 in relation to your starting pistol/s. See the FACT Sheet 'Safe Storage Level Two - Category C, D & H Requirements' on the Safe Storage page on the Firearms Registry Internet site.

What if the permit is to be issued to a business, club or other organisation?

Persons to be listed and authorised by this permit (in addition to the permit holder) must complete a P635 'Application for a Person to be Authorised on a Firearms Permit' form (separate form for each person); and

- * Provide proof of identity totalling 100 points (if the person does not hold a current licence or permit), and
- * All additional persons listed on the permit must complete the starting pistol safety training course.
